

TRINITY COLLEGE

UNIVERSITY of OXFORD

Further Particulars for Part-time, Fixed-term Stipendiary Lectureship in Medicine

Trinity College invites applications for a Stipendiary Lectureship in Medicine, for one year from 1st January 2022 to 31st December 2022 in the first instance, to cover Dr Keith Buckler's sabbatical leave. The Lecturer will take on an average of three weighted hours teaching per week for students at Trinity College, in the subjects of Medicine and Biomedical Sciences.

Teaching of Medicine and Biomedical Science at Trinity College

Trinity College admits around six students a year to read Medicine, and around two students a year to read Biomedical Sciences. The teaching is primarily required in the following areas for 1st year students: basic cell physiology including the physiology of excitable cells; basic pharmacology and principles of drug action; and the physiology and pharmacology of the major body systems including cardiovascular, respiratory, renal and gastrointestinal.

In addition to the teaching of 1st-year medical and biomedical sciences students, an ability to contribute to the tutorial teaching of Final Honours School (3rd-year) students would be an advantage, and would attract additional remuneration (to be negotiated).

Duties of the Lecturer

- to be responsible for teaching the first-year modules in Physiology and Pharmacology (Medicine) and Body and Cells (Biomedical Sciences);
- to teach three weighted hours a week, averaged over the three eight-week terms. (Due to the timing of lectures this is likely to be spread slightly unevenly between the terms.) The number of contact hours is somewhat reduced where the teaching is in pairs or larger groups. For example, teaching a pair for one hour counts as 1.25 weighted hours, and teaching a group of three counts as 1.5 weighted hours;
- Setting and marking collections (college-based, formative examinations) at the beginning of term (if required).
- to undertake other duties connected with the Medicine and Biomedical Sciences course, such as participating in the undergraduate admissions exercise, which takes place annually in December, and taking part in college Open Days.

Selection Criteria

Essential

- education to degree level in medicine or biomedical science;
- research in a relevant area of medicine;
- a doctorate or substantial progress towards a doctorate;

- ability and willingness to undertake the associated duties as specified above.

Desirable

- some experience of tutorial (small-group) teaching in the relevant subject areas would be an advantage.

Term of appointment

This is a fixed-term appointment for one year from 1st January 2022 to 31st December 2022 in the first instance.

Stipend

The starting salary is pro rata at point 23-27 (depending on experience) on the HE single pay spine. The current annual salary will be £6,878 - £7,736 for the three weighted hours.

Marking and preparation, attendance at Open Days, admissions interviews and similar duties are covered by the stipend.

Other benefits

- The appointed lecturer will be able to book a pooled teaching room in Trinity College for tutorials.
- Membership of the Senior Common Room (SCR) will be provided free of charge.
- The appointed lecturer will be entitled to two lunches and one dinner, free of charge, per week at the Common Table (SCR) during term time and vacation, except when the kitchens are closed.
- There will be a small research allowance of £150 to cover research expenses not obtainable from other sources.

Please note that this post does not carry a housing allowance, and no College accommodation would be available.

Right to work

The appointment will be subject to the provision of proof of the right to work in the UK.

How to apply

Candidates should submit the following documents electronically to the Academic Administrator (academic.administrator@trinity.ox.ac.uk):
